

EXTRA

PLACING THE GUILT.

Crowner's Quest on the Body of Murdered Annie Goodwin.

Betrayer and Slayer Face the Dead Girl's Father.

The False Death Certificate in Evidence—The Testimony.

The first official step to avenge the cruel murder of poor, misguided Annie Goodwin was taken by Coroner M. J. B. Mesmer this morning.

The Damocletian sword that has been hanging so long over the head of old Dr. McGonigal seems certain to fall at last, and by one sweeping stroke to avenge at once this last victim, as well as countless others who have met their deaths at the malpractitioner's hands.

The details of the revolting murder of Annie Goodwin, which have been told at length in THE EVENING WORLD, will be gone over once more and this time will be officially taken down in the fullest detail, in order that not one word of the damning evidence may be lost.

Coroner Mesmer is determined that old McGonigal shall be brought to justice. Like other reputable physicians, he views with horror the tottering old man, almost on the edge of the grave, who thwarts the regular processes of nature by illegal and unusually cruel means.

AT THE INQUEST.

The Coroner's Court filled up early. There was a great crowd present, and necks were craned and eyes fastened eagerly on every new face that entered the room.

Every seat in the room was filled by 10 o'clock. Reporters anxiously awaited the beginning of the proceedings, while artists stood about at points of vantage to sketch the many prisoners in the room after 10, and all eyes were turned upon the unhappy father. They took seats on the second bench.

One of the group was a cousin of Annie's, Mamie Hyde by name. She bore such a startling resemblance to the dead girl that it almost took one's breath away. It could easily be seen what a beautiful girl Annie must have been in life.

Annie's sister Mamie was there. She is about sixteen and very pretty.

THE BETRAYER WAS THERE.

"Gus" Harrison, the lover and the cause of Annie Goodwin's trouble, walked into the court-room with his counsel, Daniel M. Van Cott, shortly after the Goodwins arrived.

His eyes shifted uneasily about until they rested on Mamie Goodwin's face. He started back as though he had seen a ghost, and his pallid face turned a dead white. He averted his eyes instantly, and they then caught the eyes of the bereaved father. His face colored violently, as though he was ashamed of his dirty work, but he quickly entered into an animated conversation with his counsel.

Then the undertaker, Cornelius Morris, entered the room with his counsel, Gabriel Levy.

It would seem strange if the coffin-like appearance of the court-room did not make him think of the pine box into which he had so coolly jammed the body of the murdered girl and so unconcernedly buried her in the strangers' plot in St. Michael's Cemetery.

Then the chief figure of all, Dr. McGonigal, accompanied by Detectives Price and Mott entered the room, but left again almost immediately.

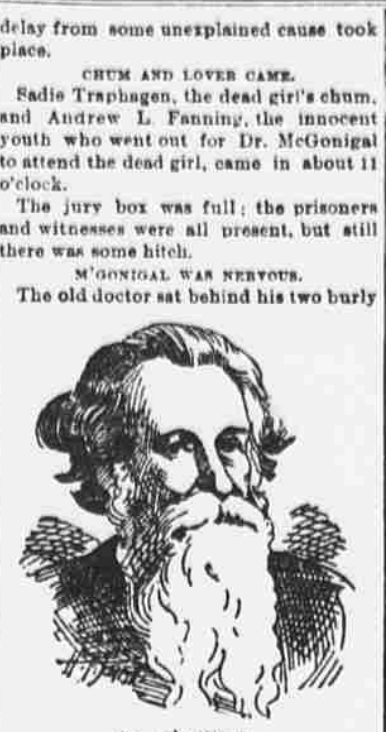

The look-alike face of Mrs. Fannie Shaw, in custody of Detective Ross, again looked up through the misty air of the court-room. The detective put her on the front bench.

Mrs. Halliday and her husband had entered in the mean time and taken seats in the rear of the room.

AT THE COURT ROOM.

Coroner Mesmer came into court about 10.30 o'clock, and immediately announced that, in consequence of the crowded state of the court-room, the inquest would go on in Part III. of the Court of General Sessions.

Witnesses, spectators and prisoners hurried through the pouring rain to the latter place, and there another veritable

DR. MCGONIGAL.
(From a photograph.)

The first official step to avenge the cruel murder of poor, misguided Annie Goodwin was taken by Coroner M. J. B. Mesmer this morning.

The Damocletian sword that has been hanging so long over the head of old Dr. McGonigal seems certain to fall at last, and by one sweeping stroke to avenge at once this last victim, as well as countless others who have met their deaths at the malpractitioner's hands.

The details of the revolting murder of Annie Goodwin, which have been told at length in THE EVENING WORLD, will be gone over once more and this time will be officially taken down in the fullest detail, in order that not one word of the damning evidence may be lost.

Coroner Mesmer is determined that old McGonigal shall be brought to justice. Like other reputable physicians, he views with horror the tottering old man, almost on the edge of the grave, who thwarts the regular processes of nature by illegal and unusually cruel means.

AT THE INQUEST.

The Coroner's Court filled up early. There was a great crowd present, and necks were craned and eyes fastened eagerly on every new face that entered the room.

Every seat in the room was filled by 10 o'clock. Reporters anxiously awaited the beginning of the proceedings, while artists stood about at points of vantage to sketch the many prisoners in the room after 10, and all eyes were turned upon the unhappy father. They took seats on the second bench.

One of the group was a cousin of Annie's, Mamie Hyde by name. She bore such a startling resemblance to the dead girl that it almost took one's breath away. It could easily be seen what a beautiful girl Annie must have been in life.

Annie's sister Mamie was there. She is about sixteen and very pretty.

MRS. HALLIDAY.

THE BETRAYER WAS THERE.

"Gus" Harrison, the lover and the cause of Annie Goodwin's trouble, walked into the court-room with his counsel, Daniel M. Van Cott, shortly after the Goodwins arrived.

His eyes shifted uneasily about until they rested on Mamie Goodwin's face. He started back as though he had seen a ghost, and his pallid face turned a dead white. He averted his eyes instantly, and they then caught the eyes of the bereaved father. His face colored violently, as though he was ashamed of his dirty work, but he quickly entered into an animated conversation with his counsel.

Then the undertaker, Cornelius Morris, entered the room with his counsel, Gabriel Levy.

It would seem strange if the coffin-like appearance of the court-room did not make him think of the pine box into which he had so coolly jammed the body of the murdered girl and so unconcernedly buried her in the strangers' plot in St. Michael's Cemetery.

Then the chief figure of all, Dr. McGonigal, accompanied by Detectives Price and Mott entered the room, but left again almost immediately.

The look-alike face of Mrs. Fannie Shaw, in custody of Detective Ross, again looked up through the misty air of the court-room. The detective put her on the front bench.

Mrs. Halliday and her husband had entered in the mean time and taken seats in the rear of the room.

AT THE COURT ROOM.

Coroner Mesmer came into court about 10.30 o'clock, and immediately announced that, in consequence of the crowded state of the court-room, the inquest would go on in Part III. of the Court of General Sessions.

Witnesses, spectators and prisoners hurried through the pouring rain to the latter place, and there another veritable

GEN. GORDON

With 30 to 1 Against Him, Won the Fourth Race at Brighton.

TRACK FETLOCK DEEP IN MUD
Julia Miller, a 7 to 1 Shot, Defeated Roseberry.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)
BRIGHTON RACE TRACK, July 25.—The track was fetlock deep in mud and water at Brighton today, but the racing was continued as usual.

The attendance, however, was very light and the racing lacked interest.

Starter King Heasley was too anxious to make a good start in the first race and the consequences was a delay of half an hour.

When he did drop the flag it was to a very straggling start, and Ronette Fly and John M. were the only two in it who they finished on a level.

The last race was to be over hurdles, but on account of the stormy weather the owners all agreed to run it on the flat.

FIVE-EIGHTHS OF A MILE: Maiden two-year-olds.

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1 Ronette Fly	110	1:10	1st
2 John M.	110	1:12	2nd
3

SEVEN-EIGHTHS OF A MILE.

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

THIRD RACE.

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

FOURTH RACE.

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

ONE MILE.

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

away. Nomad made all the running and won in a walk, ten lengths from Little D, who was half a length before Clewlow, time 1:44.

Mutuel paid: Straight, $10; for a place, $4.75; Little D, paid $7.50.

SECOND RACE.

Five furlongs; selling.

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

SIX AND ONE-HALF FURLONGS.

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

SEVEN FURLONGS.

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

EIGHT FURLONGS.

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

ONE MILE.

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

ONE AND ONE-HALF MILE.

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

TWO MILE.

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

THREE MILE.

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

NEW YORK CINCINNATI

1,000 People Saw This Game Between Gothamites and Reds.

GOOD BASEBALL WEATHER. BUT CAN'T PLAY BALL YET.

Mutrie's Men Made a Promising Four-Run Start.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)
CINCINNATI, July 25.—The attendance at today's game between the New York and Cincinnati did not exceed 1,000 notwithstanding the fact that the Reds won yesterday and the weather was most favorable for ball playing.

The New Yorkers were the first to go to the bat.

NEW YORK (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

CINCINNATI (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

NEW YORK (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

CINCINNATI (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

NEW YORK (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

CINCINNATI (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

NEW YORK (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

CHICAGO - 5

BROOKLYN - 3

Darby O'Brien Reported Captain-That-Is-to-Be Faatz Present, but Not in the Game.

WEATHER FAIR, CROWD SMALL.

Bison Buckley's Twirling Tried Against Ward's Men.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)
CHICAGO, July 25.—The Brooklyn and Chicago played their second game of the series here today in the presence of a fair crowd.

It rained up to 12 o'clock, but the sky cleared and the afternoon became almost perfect for ball playing.

Darby O'Brien, the Brooklyn Club's captain, who has been suffering for weeks from an injured hand, reported here today to Mr. Byrne.

His hand is healed and bids fair to be as good as ever within a week or ten days.

He is anxious to go to work, but will not be allowed to do so until his hand is absolutely well.

The batting order of the teams to-day:

CHICAGO (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

BROOKLYN (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

CHICAGO (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

BROOKLYN (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

CHICAGO (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

BROOKLYN (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

CHICAGO (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

PLAYERS' LEAGUE: CLEVELAND - 8

NEW YORK - 11

'Twas Ladies' Day, and 300 Fair Ones Smiled on the Giants.

EWING'S CONFIDENT WORDS.

Game Started with O'Day and O'Brien for the Box.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)
CLEVELAND, O., July 25.—The Giants went into today's struggle with just the suggestion of a thirst for vengeance, remembering Cleveland's last Eastern trip, and with a determination to sprinkle runs and base hits through their performance as plentifully as the varied cryogenic experts ever marked a promising handball with his capital.

Ewing tried hard to arrange two games for this afternoon, but Al Johnson refused to play them.

"In the present condition of our team," said Ewing, "I will play any Club in the world all the games they want."

To-day was ladies' day and there were about three hundred of the fair sex present.

The batting order:

NEW YORK (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

CLEVELAND (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

NEW YORK (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

CLEVELAND (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

NEW YORK (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

CLEVELAND (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

NEW YORK (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

NEW YORK CINCINNATI

1,000 People Saw This Game Between Gothamites and Reds.

GOOD BASEBALL WEATHER. BUT CAN'T PLAY BALL YET.

Mutrie's Men Made a Promising Four-Run Start.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)
CINCINNATI, July 25.—The attendance at today's game between the New York and Cincinnati did not exceed 1,000 notwithstanding the fact that the Reds won yesterday and the weather was most favorable for ball playing.

The New Yorkers were the first to go to the bat.

NEW YORK (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

CINCINNATI (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

NEW YORK (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

CINCINNATI (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

NEW YORK (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

CINCINNATI (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3

NEW YORK (N. L.)

Starter	Weight	Time	Place
1
2
3